Are You Seeking Change in the World?

If you have wanted to see change in your personal world or the world at large, or struggle watching friends and family deal with what life has presented them and wanting to help, we may have some useful perspectives and suggestions.

Archangel Faith shared some insights pertinent to the times today as many are seeking change in the world. Many are struggling with the news of the day and feeling that all is falling apart rather than coming together.

I can assure you it is coming together but to do so but the old must be released or fall apart before the new can flourish.

We have had some engaging dialogue within our Help from Heaven group as people are seeking answers to what they are experiencing or witnessing in the world. I am hoping this blog post, in particular, will help you understand and navigate those challenges easier.

Here is the link to that post, Are You Seeing Change in the World?

In the interim, my highest hope is for you to be able to slide through these changes as quickly and easily as possible.

Are you near Buffalo or Lily Dale, New York?

On Thursday, July 21, I am presenting the first live workshop Archangel Michael outlined for me to deliver called "Reignite the Light". During that workshop, I will explain the history of the world and what has been done to clear the cause of the challenges facing humanity. I have also been given certain processes to share for the first time publicly, including reigniting your light from within, the new tree of life aligning you with the divine within to access all there is, a process that Mother Mary shared with me recently to help you choose and assure your highest path and a new process to help with letting go.

If you are near the Buffalo, New York area, please join me at this inaugural event.

because of him and for that I will always be grateful. Ted, may you rest in peace.
