Do You Clean Everything?

I assume you all take showers and/or baths and wash your hands periodically throughout the day. I also assume you wash your clothes, clean your home and office, and also your car with some regularity as well. All that is part of your effort to look, smell and feel good as well as honor yourself and others. I would imagine the incentive includes to help you be more approachable and likable by others when you make those efforts. I believe everyone feels better when feeling clean, when being around people who are clean and smell good.

But, it is more rare that people clean their energy, thoughts and emotions with the same regularity.

When you have clean energy, you are also more attractive to others. You feel better, act better, have better thoughts and emotions and attract better results. Before we begin each private or group session, I clear a number of energy centers to bring you back into balance, help you release lower energies, lift you up and restore your energy and raise your vibration.

I also cut the invisible attachments such as cords others have placed into you which can affect your mood as well as cause you to loose your energy. If you feel more tired without obvious cause such as a late or sleepless night, someone else could be possibly draining your energy through an invisible cord they have attached to you. By severing your cords, and cutting your attachments, you are more free, have more energy and can more easily raise your vibration to attract better results more effortlessly.

Most people can't see the lower energies, the things causing the imbalances or the cords and other attachments. But, some can feel lower energy when they are around others who demonstrate it.

Our monthly group clearing call was created to give everyone a more affordable opportunity to clear energy, emotions, limited thinking, blocks, and baggage.

The way to raise your vibration and ascend to Heaven on Earth and the new golden age is by letting go. Deep inner work sometimes is necessary to release anything that is holding you behind. You cannot ascend with your baggage.

If you clear your energy at a minimum of once a month you are improving your outcomes. I personally work on mine daily. Private clients work on theirs weekly. Each time you clear your energy, you vibrate higher. Where you vibrate is the most significant thing right now for your personal evolvment to more success.

During our private sessions, as well as our group call, we are more comprehensive and cover many more details to clear your energy, negative past memories and emotions and help you let go of the unconscious baggage that is holding you back.

But, because most haven't been taught the nuances of the numerous things we clear and why, I will start educating on the varying topics to help you become savvy to soar. You shouldn't be left in the dark any longer so stay tuned..

Wishing you a wonderful weekend.

Blessings,

Joy
