The Strength of Your Connection

I had to tune in for the direction, teaching and clearing we will provide on Saturday due to traveling and needing to keep Friday clear for other things as I visit with as many friends and clients as I can while in New Jersey.

God made it so simple to understand how to have a life of ease and yet likely not as easy as we'd like when attached to old programming and patterns. Fortunately, besides sharing His insights with you, we will clear some of those challenges as well on the group call. Those patterns and programming often inhibit a strong connection to Source. Some religions have actually taught information that creates fear of God which blocks God being able to serve you as you and He prefer. As Jesus has said, "You can't have an intimate relationship with someone you fear." Unfortunately, many have an unconscious fear of God.

Many also have an unconscious fear they won't receive from God or God won't give them what they desire knowing how often they have turned away from Him. Whether conscious of those thoughts or memories of turning away from God or having them buried in the subconscious matters not. What is stored in the subconscious is what you manifest.

Most don't realize how the suffering that people are experiencing was caused and what is necessary to eliminate it to become free. God knows and wants to clear those hidden issues.

I have been receiving the messages, tools, techniques, and information that I am to provide to both audiences at our events this weekend as God knows who will be there and what they require. Besides the message for Saturday, for example, where God shares certain dynamics of life to make it easier to live, he also shared particular tool that we will give to those in attendance Sunday to more easily know the right answer.

All of Heaven will provide the means to your challenges with information, clearing, healing and tools to use. I am grateful to be able to receive and provide them to you to make your life easier and more abundant. Their support is immeasurable. They are right there with an immediate response and potential solution and are opening the way for you to ascend to the new golden age.

I'm excited to be able to connect with you this weekend as a conduit to help you as guided and especially see those of you I can see in person which is more of a rarity!

Much love,

Joy
