Transition to Heaven

As you know, losing a loved one brings up many emotions, challenges and questions.

My regular private clients often enroll my assistance in helping them and their loved ones prior, during and after they make their transition.

Often on the anniversary of the birth or death of their loved one, they ask me to tune in to check on them. Their highest hope is not only to find they are well and happy but to also connect to them. Although they often come through, I can't guarantee their loved one will come through as there is more to the situation than just my gift of connecting and channeling them. If they cannot come to the phone so to speak, I can, at least, inquire as to their wellbeing and get a response. Just by your intent, there are times the loved one is waiting on standby for me to open the channel and they come through. As one of my previous channeled loved ones said, there is often a line to come through when they find a medium who can connect them to those they have left behind.

Just to be clear, I don't promote myself as a medium. I only do this for my private clients as it is not the focus of my work. My focus is to clear the cause of challenges to create better outcomes both in life as well as in business.

However, knowing death is a big part of life and one of the more challenging ones, I wrote a report based on some of my experiences during my sessions. This report shares some of what I've learned regarding their experiences in their transition to Heaven. It has been fascinating to me. And, for those who have lost a loved one outside of my practice, I have shared this report, to which they have responded that they found comfort in the information. So feel free to do also.

What is remarkable in some ways is that those of us who have transitioned to Heaven on Earth, have gone through some similar situations as there is processing to go through to embrace the new energies and realities of this new dimension. The fifth dimension is a very different dynamic than the third, from which we just split. Most haven't realized the nuances yet as the transition is still occurring.

Many have been tired, uninspired, confused and even unmotivated to do what they normally would do. That isn't unusual right now. More light is still pouring into the planet to assist us in elevating our circumstances. There is an adjustment period still going on.

The manual you receive once in Heaven, as outlined in the report, may be similar as to what we will be creating. A colleague and I have been going through specific steps and programming to master 5D so we can help you. I will be sharing that information with you once completed.

In the interim, here is a free report I developed on the actual transition to Heaven. If you have questions or want to discuss more, remember to join us at our private group on Facebook where we have freedom to share and learn about such subjects or email me if you want to discuss private sessions.
